

East Ozarks

Audubon Society

Invites everyone to join us and other members of the community as we host a

Public Celebration of Earth Day 2017

On Saturday, April 22

At the Crouch Sanctuary in Engler Park

Starting at 9 AM, we will be cleaning up the bird blind, “spring gardening” the Winston Butterfly Garden, and doing maintenance work on the Bob Lewis hiking trail. Helping hands and tools (rakes, wheelbarrows, etc.) are needed!

Then at noon we will gather together for a special celebration in the nearby Hampton pavilion (bring your own lunch and beverage). Even if you don’t want to participate in the work activities, we invite all to this special noon-time event. Make a sign or create an Earth Day outfit for this fun day! Co-participating groups will talk about their organizations and their hopes for a better world. Guided birding walks along the trail and at the bird blind will be available in the early afternoon.

We welcome all to join us for any portion of this 47th Earth Day Celebration. If you belong to a club, group or organization that would like to co-participate in this event, please contact us: Earth Day is for Everyone!

Contact Numbers for more information or to sign up a group:

573/756-6752

573/546-2864

East Ozarks Audubon Society: We’re not just for the birds!